The smoke of battle obscured from their view the retreat of Grant's right wing behind the friendly line formed by Wallace's division of Buell's troops, and they heard only the shouts of victory ushered in by the solitary bugher on the enemy's works waving the white flag in token of surrender. His Mother's Song. [By Mrs. E. V. Wilson.] Beneath the hot midsummer sun The men had marched all day; And now beside a rippling stream Upon the grass they lay.

Tiring of games and idle jest, As swept the hours along, They called to one who mused apart, Come, friend, give us a song.

"I fear I cannot please," he said; The only songs I know Are those my mother used to sing For me long years ago."

"Sing one of those," a rough voice cried, "There's none but true men here; To every mother's son of us A mother's souge are dear."

Then sweetly rose the singer's voice Amid unwonted calm, "Am I a soldier of the Cross, A follower of the Lamb? "And shall I fear to own his cause "-

The very stream was stilled, And hearts that never throbbed with fear With tender thoughts were filled-Ended the song; the singer said,

As to his feet he rose. "Thanks to you all, my friends; good night, God grant us sweet repose." "Sing us one more," the captain begged; The soldier bent his head.

Then, glancing 'round, with smiling lips,

"You'll join with me," he said. "We'll sing this old familiar air. Sweet as the bugle call, "All hall the power of Jesus' name! Let angels prostrate fall. 370

Ah! wondrous was the old tune's spell As on the singer sang; Man after men fell into line And loud the voices rang.

The songs are done, the camp is still, Naught but the stream is heard; But ah! the depths of every soul By those old hymns are stirred.

And up from many a hearded Hp, In whispers soft and low. Rises the prayer the mother taught The boy long years ago. —Chicago Inter-Ocean.

WOMAN AND THE BABY.

What a puzzle the little child is in the domestic economy! How the mother gives of her own life and strength to support the life of her blessed little youngster!

How the child kicks, and laughs, and crows!

How the chird grows, and is heavier and heavier every day. And yet she lifts him, and tosses him, and plays with him, and takes care of him by day and by night.

Is it any wonder the mother breaks down? Her back aches. Her stomach fails her. Her liver is bad. Her blood is thin, and she says she feels poorly. Yes, yes, poorly—very poorly. Give mother a bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters. She needs the iron in her blood, which that will put there. She must have strength, or she will be a confirmed old invalid. Brown's Iron Bitters helps worn and weary women into new life, cheerfulness, and vigor. Tell all the mothers you know.
